Paint the charm of Tuscany—from villas, villages, mountains to the coast: Nicole Kennedy

arrive Sept 9 — depart Sept 16, 2019

Painting plein air at Montorno, (just north of Lucca) and the areas surrounding provides a unique opportunity to experience the beauty Tuscany has to offer. Nicole Kennedy, known for her award winning paintings of Italy, will be in her element at Montorno and the surrounding areas with students to explore the areas visual diversity, from the Montorno villa with breathtaking mountain views, to charming villages, a day at a colorful coastal port with boats, and even the option of painting a model in the environment. Nicole's focus will be instructing students en plein air; capturing light, composition, simplification, values, color, drawing, tips for painting water, and other essentials for successful results.

Nicole Kennedy is well known for her energetic, enthusiastic teaching method. Students will receive individual attention and be encouraged to discover their creative voice. While class focuses on oil or acrylic on canvas, watercolor and pastel artists are welcome. Nicole will demo every day emphasizing problem solving methods common in painting from life. Students will also learn how to take great photographs for studio painting, even with an iPhone! Group will also take an excursion exploring the culture and scenery of the region.
